Greetings from Sporting Goods Trade Magazine.

Sporting Goods Trade Magazine has carved a niche for itself as it is one of the most exclusive magazine catering to all kinds of Sports and Fitness products, starting from sports equipments, sports flooring and host of other sports goods.

In this edition, we are focusing on Sports Flooring which forms the integral part of all kinds sports activities-be it indoors or outdoors. A specialist sports floor is the critical element in providing a comfortable and safe place in which to play sport. Halls may also be used for some non-sports purposes but the primary function of safety requirements should not be compromised. One of the main reasons why sports floors were introduced in the early twentieth century is that it significantly reduces the risk of injury.

One of the great advances in recent times is the introduction of tailored sports flooring. No two sports are the same and therefore the flooring requirements also vary across the sports spectrum.

We will try and provide as much information about the Sport Floorings as can be possible in this edition and also provide an extensive article on it so that everyone can get oriented towards this important segment of Sports Goods industry.

We hope you all will enjoy this edition!!!

Industry demands 5 per cent GST on all sports goods.

Sports goods manufacturers Wednesday demanded a lower GST of 5 per cent for the sector from the existing 12-18 per cent, noting that the government had promised to keep the new tax rates similar to earlier VAT rates. The existing 18 per cent and 12 per cent GST on sports goods should be reduced to 5 percent, the convenor of sports industry body Khel Udyog Sangharsh Samiti (KUSS). The central government had assured before implementing GST on July 1 that the GST slab would be around that of the value added tax (VAT) on related items, the KUSS claimed. On the contrary, it imposed 28 per cent GST on physical fitness, gymnastic and athletic goods and 12 per cent GST on other sports goods whereas VAT on all sports goods had been nil in Uttar Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir and only 5 per cent in Punjab, Dhir contended. Sports industrialists especially those located in Jalandhar have formed KUSS and have been spearheading the agitation against the Centre for a cut in GST on sports goods to 5 per cent, he added.

He noted that the Centre a few month ago reduced GST on physical fitness, gymnastic and athletic goods from 28 per cent to 18 per cent, but the industry is asking for a uniform 5 per cent GST for all sports goods. The industry group has intentionally selected Dharamshala for holding their press conference a day before Prime Minister Narendra Modi's rally here so that their demand of reducing GST on sports goods may be heard properly.

Manish Kaushik helps India create history in Ekaterinburg

There was more delight for the Indian camp as Manish Kaushik also assured himself at least a bronze medal by reaching the semi-final of the 63kg category. Notably, Manish came up with a dominant show against Wanderson De Oliveira of Brazil, beating him by unanimous decision in the quarter-finals.

The series is scheduled to take place from September 27 to October 4 and Rani will have goalkeeper Savita as her deputy. Savita and Rajani Etimaru retained their places in the side following the team's triumph in the Olympic Test Event in Japan recently. Defenders Deep Grace Ekka, Gurjit Kaur, Reena Khokhar and Salima Tete have also been named in the squad. The midfield sees the return of the experienced Namita Toppo after a lengthy spell on the sidelines due to injury, Hockey India said in a statement. India's midfield will also consist of other experienced players in Sushila Chanu Pukhrabam, Nikki Pradhan, Monika, Neha Goyal and Lilima Minz. The forward-line features Rani, Vandana Katariya, Navneet Kaur, Lalremsiami, Navjot Kaur and youngster Sharmila Devi who made her international debut during the Olympic Test Event in Tokyo. "The balance and mixture of players in our team remains the same from previous tournaments as go into an important phase in our objective of qualifying for the Tokyo Olympics 2020," Chief Coach Sjoerd Marijne said about the team selected for the event. "It is good to have Namita Toppo back in the squad for the first time since Asian Games 2018... We still have ten days of training before we leave for the matches in England. "I am sure these matches will serve as good preparation for our vital FIH Hockey Olympic Qualifiers in Odisha against USA in November 2019," he added. The Dutchman also said the tour will help in preparing the team to face USA in the FIH Hockey Olympic Qualifiers in Odisha.

Dinesh Mongia Announces Retirement from all forms of cricket

Former India all-rounder Dinesh Mongia announced his retirement from all forms of cricket on Tuesday. Mongia is best known for being chosen over VVS Laxman in the Indian team that finished runner-up in the ICC World Cup 2003 in South Africa. Mongia was last seen on a cricket field in 2007, playing for Punjab, before being banned by the BCCI for joining the Indian Cricket League (ICL). The cricketer made his under-19 debut for Punjab in October 1995 and on the back of his consistent performance in first-class cricket for over 6 years, Mongia was given an ODI call-up into the national team against Australia in 2001. Mongia went on to play 57 ODI for India where he scored 1230 runs at 27.95 that also includes an unbeaten 159 in the series decider against Zimbabwe at Guwahati in March 2002. Mongia also played a solitary T20I for India, however, he never played a Test. The left-hand batsman had a prolific first-class career. Mongia played 121 first-class matches and has 21 centuries to his name. Mongia had also played for Lancashire and Leicestershire. Mongia lost his touch to cricket after being banned by the BCCI. Most players banned by the Board for their association with the ICL were granted amnesty but Mongia remained the lone cricketer who was kept out of the official circuit. The cricketer is said to be taking coaching assignments further on. Last season, Mongia was made a state selector by the Punjab Cricket Association (PCA).

Vinesh Phogat wins maiden Wrestling World Championships medal

Vinesh Phogat ended her medal drought at Wrestling World Championships as the start Indian wrestler clinched a bronze in Nur-Sultan, Kazakhstan on Wednesday.

Vinesh Phogat defeated two-time world bronze medalist Maria Prevolaraki of Greece by fall in the bronze medal bout of 53 kg freestyle event. She is only the fourth Indian female wrestler to win a medal at the prestigious tournament.

The win comes as a double delight for the young Indian wrestler as she won India an Olympic quota in the 53 kg freestyle event earlier on Wednesday. Vinesh Phogat had shown excellent defensive skills when she defeated World No. 1 Sarah Ann Hilderbrandt of USA in the second repechage round.

Despite having won the Commonwealth Games and the Asian Games gold medals, a world championships medal was missing from her decorated trophy cabinet before the ongoing tournament in Nur-Sultan.

Mary Kom Recommended for Padma Vibhushan, PV Sindhu for Padma Bhushan in All-Women Sports Ministry List

The name of six-time world champion boxer Mary Kom has been recommended for the prestigious Padma Vibhushan award, the first time that a woman athlete's name has been put forward by the sports ministry for the country's second highest civilian honour after the Bharat Ratna. Mary's name was among nine recommended by the ministry for the Padma awards, and in another first, all the nine athletes this time around are women, the Times of India reported. Badminton star PV Sindhu, who became the first Indian to win the world championship in August, has been recommended for the Padma Bhushan, the country's third highest civilian award. Mary Kom was honoured with the Padma Bhushan in 2013 and Padma Shri in 2006. If she receives the Padma Vibhushan award, it would make her the fourth sportsperson to do so after chess wizard Viswanathan Anand in 2007, cricket legend Sachin Tendulkar in 2008 and mountaineer Sir Edmund Hillary, who got the award posthumously in 2008. Sindhu was overlooked for the Padma Bhushan honour in 2017 after her name was recommended by the sports ministry. She had got the Padma Shri in 2015. The other seven women in this year's list have all been recommended for the Padma Shri. They are wrestler Vinesh Phogat, table tennis star Manika Batra, T20I skipper Harmanpreet Kaur, hockey captain Rani Rampal, former shooter Suma Shirur and mountaineer twin sisters, Tashi and Nungshi Malik, the TOI report said. The recommendations have been sent to the Padma awards committee in the home ministry. The names of the awardees will be announced on the eve of the Republic Day next year. The 36-year-old Mary Kom is looking to qualify for her second Olympics – the 2020 Tokyo Games – after securing a historic bronze at the 2012 Games in London. She had clinched the world title in 48kg category for the record sixth time last year.

The latest limited edition, the TOUR360 XT Parley, showcases the brand's commitment to the sustainability of our oceans. The entire upper of the shoe is constructed of yarns spun from upcycled plastic waste intercepted from beaches and coastal communities. Fittingly, adidas is launching the shoe on Monday, June 10 to kick off U.S. Open week at Pebble Beach.

The TOUR360 XT Parley features a striking ocean blue and aqua green color scheme. The upcycled upper sits on adidas' full-length BOOST midsole and TOUR360 XT cleated outsole with X-Traxion technology. A sock-like opening gives the shoe a modern streetwear vibe, while the 360Wrap provides stability and support in the midfoot area for a locked-in feel. It also comes with a one-year waterproof guarantee.

Sports Tourism An Industry on the rise

Globally sports tourism is a multi-billion dollar industry. According to estimates, global sports tourism was worth USD 7 billion in 2017, said Cox and Kings. Sports tourism is witnessing 10-12 per cent growth as Indians are showing more enthusiasm for visiting a country to attend sports event, according to industry experts. The first love for Indians is cricket and they travel to watch the game, whether in India or overseas, he added. There has also been a shift in the interest for other sporting events like the Soccer World Cup or the Olympics. A major 10-12 per cent growth in arrivals to these destinations has been noticed, when a major sporting event is organized. Indians travel to Australia, New Zealand, Sri Lanka and England to watch cricket matches, however, over the last 10 years there is a growing interest to watch the Olympics, the Soccer World Cup and Grand Prix Formula One motor events.

The Olympics or Soccer World Cup are highlights for Indians and they love the atmosphere associated with the games, Anand said, adding that there are people who travel to specific sporting events during the Olympics or a few of them only travel for the opening ceremony. This segment is primarily dominated by men who come together to watch the sporting event. Large companies are also organising incentive trips for their top performers and use this opportunity for team building activities. Indians, who travel for such events, usually extend their stay for a couple of days or a week to explore the destination. India saw a change in travel patterns and rise in incidence of travelling for sports events ever since the launch of Indian Premier League in 2008. The 2011 ICC World Cup further cemented Indians love for travel coupled with watching their favourite sporting stars in action.

Another interesting trend has been noticed during the 2015, ICC World Cup in Australia and New Zealand. Cricket fans explored these two destinations as among the most preferred honeymoon or holiday destination. The bookings for these destinations went up by 35 per cent. Over the years, Indians have explored and shown interest in other sporting events, including football, tennis, Olympics, Commonwealth Games, Grand Prix Formula One motor events among others. Indians have always loved both sports and travel, so holidays around sporting events are the perfect combination to satisfy two cravings at once.

India's best flyweight - make that 'slyweight'

World Championship semifinal was tricky. Saken Bibossinov was three inches taller and preferred fighting from a distance. And the southpaw Kazakh was coming into the bout with a strong win over European gold-medallist Artur Hovhannisyan.

If you go by the coaching staff's assessment, Amit Panghal is Sherlock Holmes come to life. In that the Indian boxer is not helping out redheads or chasing demonic hounds in the countryside. The reference is more to the version played by Robert Downey Jr. Or at least the scenes in which the master sleuth contemplates physical altercation, calibrating his opponent in a pre-fight walkthrough, figuring out where to hit, how hard to hit and what happens once he hits. "Amit is like that only," coach Jay Singh Patil tells The Indian Express from Ekaterinburg. "He is India's most cunning boxer. So when people think he is starting slow or is nervous in the beginning, he is only figuring out the strategy of his opponent. Then in the two rounds he breaks them down." There is merit to not leaving a contest till too late (check our coverage of the Wrestling Worlds for more on that). But in Panghal's case, it is all about belief in one's abilities and the gameplan. Coupled with his technical prowess, the confidence makes him India's best flyweight. It started out in a typically cagey manner, but unlike Panghal's previous opponents, especially the Filipino in the semifinal, Bibossinov was conservative. He took his time, feinted, gauged the distance and avoided long combinations. On several instances it was the Indian who tried to push the pace and was tested by counters. Panghal's been dispatching opponents trying to rush by creating space and countering. Here was a guy who knew how to use the height and reach advantage, goading the Indian to make the moves. "Nervousness to kuch nahi thi. Just that the Kazakh started out well, but I was confident in the strategy and the game-plan," says Panghal. "We had studied his bouts and knew what his plan would be. I just took some time to understand what he was trying to do and then began my attacks."

Panghal began the second round with lunging jabs, moving in with a strong right and following it with that trusty overhand left. A few of those stinging combos were enough for the Kazakh to start attacking, and playing into Panghal's hands. The "It took Amit two minutes to study the Kazakh boxer," says high performance director Santiago Neiva. "We were always confident, even during the announcement of the decision. In a close bout but in a fairly clear manner." Two judges had scored the bout against Panghal, a verdict too close for comfort.

Meet Ravi Dahiya, a man of few words but talent in abundance

Ravi Dahiya is staring into nothing, sitting in the training arena at Barys Arena with his arms clutching his knees. He has qualified for the Tokyo Olympics after knocking off some established global stars in the 57kg but hardly shows any emotion. There is not even a smile on his face. Even when the referee raised his hand after his win over formidable Japanese Yuki Takahashi, he gives an impression as if he has lost. This was the result, which secured his passage into the Tokyo Olympics. Then the 22-year-old bumps into Russian world champion Zaur Uguev and suffered a narrow 4-6 defeat to go out of the gold medal race. "They were scheduling my bouts too close to each other," he says on a memorable day for him but does not utter a word on making it to the Olympics.

He walks out of the stadium, saying he has to look after his weight. That's Ravi Dahiya for you! A man of few words but with everything in his arsenal that he needs to have for excelling on the mat. He won the bronze in 57kg in Nur-Sultan, Kazakhstan, on Friday on his debut at the World Wrestling Championships. That he possesses extraordinary talent was never in question. He won a silver at the Under-23 World Championships in 2015 to give a glimpse of what is coming in future. If anyone doubted his potential, he showed his mettle at the Pro Wrestling League when he beat U-23 European champion and also Sandeep Tomar, who literally owned the 57kg category before Dahiya's rise. There were a few who were still not willing to believe in him, saying PWL was not a platform to judge him. However, it was this platform which enabled him to make a name for himself. He, once more, silenced the critics by excelling during the national trials for the Worlds, emerging winner from arguably the most competitive category, which featured Sandeep Tomar and Utkarsh Kale. Dahiya is a product of the national capital's Chhatrasal Stadium, which has already given India two Olympic medallists -- Sushil Kumar and Yogeshwar Dutt. He came here from his village Nahri in Harayna about 10 years back when he was just a 12-year-old and since then has been training under Mahabali Satpal and coach Virender. And anyone who has seen him train, would say that he is a shy person, who does not express himself much. "What should I say? I am like this since my childhood. My real journey has just begun. What have I achieved? There are Olympic medallists from my training centre. What have I done?," said Dahiya, who idolises Iranian great Hasan Yazdani. Wrestler Arun Kumar, who has largely mentored him, chips in, "See, this how he has been brought up." Sushil Kumar says, "You will find all Chhatrasal stadium trainees like this. They are focussed." It shows on the mat. He possesses remarkable composure, stamina and power. He does not get rattled even when he is trailing by a huge margin.

These days there is pressure to perform

India's sprint sensation Dutee Chand will be seen in action at the World Championships in Doha after the national federation accepted an IAAF invite for her participation. The Athletics Federation of India had named a 25-member team for the September 27-October 6 championships in Doha while also approving World University Games 100m champion Dutee's name, pending an invite from the IAAF. Dutee did not meet the qualification mark of 11.24 seconds, but found herself within the required number of competitors for the event.

"2019 has not been a good year for me when it came to timings. I hope to perform better at the World Championships," Dutee tells Laxmi Negi

Are you feeling special with that IAAF invite?

I couldn't qualify for the World Championships, but IAAF invites according to rankings. I am 33 in the world and they send invites to the top 50. I am happy that this is my second invitation from the IAAF. In 2017, in London, I was invited too. 2019 has not been a good year for me when it came to timings. I have won all the meets in India and came with few medals from abroad too, but did not manage to clock good timings. I hope to perform better at the World Championships.

You were awed last time in London. Are you better prepared for Doha?

In athletics, I have been doing well from my junior days. I have performed consistently well. But, yeah, these days there is pressure to perform. But I would call it good pressure. There is no guarantee for good results, that's not in my control. All I can do is hard work and I concentrate on it.

Is there are pressure to perform now?

Today, I would like to thank the media for covering athletics. It was only after my story came out in the media and it was picked up by social media that many big brands are coming and supporting athletes like me. It had taken a long time and this is result of my hard work. Earlier we used to travel by train. I used to come with the medal hanging around my neck, but no one cared. These days we travel by flights, people know about me. They are ready with bouquets. Fans want to click selfies with me. Things have changed a lot, it is a welcome change.

Let's Play India, Olympics Medals will follow.....

Jitendra Joshi
Co-Founder & Director
SportzConsult

A country of a billion people and yet only 3 medals won at the 2008 Olympics. The statement went berserk in media. The Indian sporting ecosystem was lamented beyond imagination. But if you think about it, ours is also a country of a few thousand “active” population. Are we really making an apples-to-apples comparison when we compare our medals or population with the rest of the world?

A sea of well-intended changes has been initiated by the government, private sector as well as non-profit organizations. There are more than 10 IPL style leagues running in the country today. The government has set across a dedicated fund called TOPS (Target Olympic Podium Scheme) for supporting our Olympic hopefuls. Multiple talent development initiatives are running in the country, set up by the likes of NBA, PSG, FC Barcelona, Arsenal etc. Undoubtedly, all of these have helped in increasing the size of the Indian sports market and attracting attention from corporate and the world at large. Today, sports sponsorship market in Indian touches INR 6,400 Cr, up 164% from INR 2400 Cr back in 2008.

Yet, 8 years later at the Rio Olympics 2016, our medal tally degraded to one less than what was achieved at Beijing in 2008. Why? Let's take a step back. In our obsession with getting gold, are we missing the focus of building a sporty nation before we start counting medals? Should we be asking ourselves - how many are actually playing? Do we have real sports fans?

At SportzConsult, we strongly believe in “Mass Participation” as a critical pillar in the making of a sporting nation. We were founded with the mission of making 100 million play sports. Only when the bottom of the pyramid is strong will we see the top of the pyramid swell. We see validation of our philosophy when sporting giants like NBA and Reliance Foundation invest at grassroot level in order to grow the sport. Over the last few years, we are proud and happy to have provided opportunities to play to close to 4 million Indians.

We are launching our ‘Point of View’ on “A Practical Approach To Building A Sporty Nation”.

Through this paper, we are happy to present our learnings of the last 14 years for bringing in a sporting revolution. We have discussed the two fundamental pillars, key drivers for creating sustainable ecosystem, the approach and roadmap to building a sporting nation. The paper will take you through a few examples of viable business models for accelerating sports drivers.

To get a complete insight about the approach, please visit our website www.sportzconsult.in or get in touch with us and we can share the paper with you. We are sure it will be informative.

MEERUT'S SPORTS GOODS INDUSTRY

Meerut's sports goods industry turns its focus on athletics, other niche Areas.

Meerut, already famous as the world's manufacturing hub for top quality cricket gear, had provided the shot puts and javelins that Swapna Barman (heptathlon), Tajinderpal Singh Toor (shot put) and Neeraj Chopra (javelin throw) used to win their gold medals. The medals were a victory for the sport goods makers in the city trying to diversify into athletics, fitness, gym and other high-end equipment. "Meerut has already made a name as the world's top manufacturing hub for cricket goods," says president of the All India Sports Goods Manufacturers Federation. "But new and niche sectors such as gym equipment and weights for athlete training are providing companies here an opportunity to diversify and reach out to new markets globally. Cricket, after all, is restricted to only 125 countries." The sports industry in India is moving beyond cricket towards a wide variety of other sports, resulting in the growth of viewership, participation, and sports-related industries, said a June 2018 India Briefing report from business advisory firm Dezan Shira & Associates. The city in Uttar Pradesh is home to 15 top brands in sports equipment, including table tennis, weightlifting, sportswear, gymnastics, weight training and fitness. The value of sports goods exported in 2017-18 was Rs 1,079 cr, according to the commerce ministry. The All India Sports Goods Manufacturers Federation says 60% of the sports goods made in India are exported, which pegs the sector at approximately Rs 1,750 crore. Meerut alone has 45% share of the export market. There are roughly 3,000 units in the city, employing around 25,000 workers, according to industry estimates.

The industry, comprising mainly small scale units, employs around 500,000 people around the country. The value of the country's sports goods market could not be ascertained as industry experts said it was difficult to estimate the highly unorganised market. But the commerce ministry projects the segment to grow 8% in 2018-19. This has made sports goods makers in Meerut gear up to corner a wider market. Availability of skilled and unskilled labor, proximity to Delhi and the presence of a large number of established manufacturers give this city added advantages over other sports hubs such as Jalandhar, which was a hub for inflatables such as footballs but has been losing its market share to other countries. Meerut has over the past few years seen the emergence of top brands that are making a global impact in athletics and track and field gear, table tennis and niche fitness equipment, including gear used by athletes, says Amber Anand, director of Nelco Sport. "Meerut is already the world's top cricket bats manufacturing hub and companies here have been able to use the brand advantage to enter other niche products and make a mark." Jalandhar in Punjab, which is an older sports goods hub in India, employs more people but the manufacturing sector has remained unorganized.

"Jalandhar is the hub for manufacturing balls and inflatable, but it is losing ground to different countries, including Pakistan and China. Unfortunately, companies in that region have not taken enough efforts to diversify. Cricket equipment is only exported to 60 countries and even in India, there are more cricket fans who watch the game rather than play." But diversification won't be of any use unless the sports goods companies in Meerut can reinvent themselves, say experts. Most companies here are old family-run entities.

World Badminton Championship 2019: PV Sindhu becomes first Indian to win gold

P V Sindhu on Sunday became the first Indian to win badminton World Championships gold by beating familiar rival Nozomi Okuhara of Japan in a lop-sided final here on Sunday. The Indian won 21-7 21-7 in the summit clash that. Two years after being robbed of the gold by Okuhara in an epic 110-minute final at Glasgow that went down as one of the greatest battles in badminton history, Sindhu finally exorcised the ghost of that heart-wrenching loss with a completely dominating win over the same opponent. It was Sindhu's fifth World Championships medal -- joint most for a woman singles player with former Olympics and world champion Zhang Ning of China -- to go with the two successive silvers and a couple of bronze medals.

Sindhu has also won an Olympic silver in 2016 Rio Games, a silver at Gold Coast Commonwealth Games, an Asian Games silver at Jakarta and the BWF World Tour Finals last year. Prime Minister Narendra Modi hailed PV Sindhu for winning gold at the BWF World Championship, saying her dedication is inspiring. "The stupendously talented @Pvsindhu1 makes India proud again! Congratulations to her for winning the Gold at the BWF World Championships," the prime minister tweeted. The passion and dedication with which she's pursued badminton is inspiring, he said. "PV Sindhu's success will inspire generations of players," he said.

PV Sindhu Eyes China Open after BWF World Championships High

World champion PV Sindhu will look to reassert her supremacy when she spearheads the Indian campaign at the USD 1,000,000 China Open World Tour Super 1000 tournament beginning here on Tuesday. The World No.5 Sindhu ended India's long wait for a world championship gold at Basel, Switzerland last month. She achieved the historic feat after her third successive final appearance. The performance also turned around her erratic season during which she had reached the finals at the Indonesia Open Super 1000 event. Life after that historic gold has been all about felicitations and the Indian will now have to quickly turn her focus back on badminton as she remains the country's best bet at the China Open, a title she had won in 2016. The 24-year-old from Hyderabad will begin her campaign against China's Li Xuerui, a former Olympic gold medallist and World No.1. Interestingly, Sindhu had announced her arrival on the international scene when she had stunned the then Olympic champion Li at the China Masters in 2012. Since then, Sindhu has reached the highest echelons of international badminton, while Li has been dealing with a career-threatening knee injury that she suffered at the Rio Olympics.

The Chinese is currently ranked 20th but has a 3-3 record against Sindhu. Sindhu had beaten Li at the Indonesia Masters earlier this year and if she can cross the opening hurdle, she is likely to face Canadian Michelle Li, who hasn't beaten the Indian since 2014. If everything goes well, then she might be up against China's third seed and All England champion Chen Yufei in the quarter-final. World No.8 Saina Nehwal, who had won the Indonesia Masters this year, will also look to put up a good show following her recovery from injuries which bogged her down this season. The former World No.1 looked good at the world championships before a few controversial umpiring decisions ended her run when she lost to Mia Blichfeldt of Denmark in second round. Saina will face Thailand's Busanan Ongbamrungphan in the opening round and is expected to clash with former world no.1 and her nemesis Tai Tzu Ying of Chinese Taipei in the quarter finals. China Open, the last Super 1000 event of the World Tour season, will also see the return of two superstars -- Olympic champion and three-time world champion Carolina Marin and 2017 World Champion Viktor Axelsen. Both the bigwigs will be back after recovering from their respective injuries.

The Indian campaign lost a bit of sheen with the withdrawal of Kidambi Srikanth and HS Prannoy. While Srikanth's knee injury flared up during the world championships, Prannoy is down with dengue. All eyes will be on B Sai Praneeth, who ended India's 36-year wait to become the first Indian male shuttler to claim a medal at the World Championships. The talented shuttler will open against Thailand's Suppanyu Avihingsanon and is likely to face China's third seed Shi Yu Qi in the second round. Former Commonwealth Games champion Parupalli Kashyap too will be in the fray, taking on France's Brice Leverdez in the first round.

Returning to action after an injury lay-off will be the pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty, who became the first men's pair from the country to win a super 500 event at Thailand Open last month. The duo, who had broken into the top 10, will open against Canadian combination of Jason Anthony Ho-Shue and Nyl Yakura. In mixed doubles, Satwik will pair up with Ashwini Ponnappa and meet Praveen Jordan and Melati Daeva Oktavianti, the Indonesian sixth seeds. The other men's pair of Manu Attri and B Sumeeth Reddy will square off against the second-seeded Indonesian pair of Mohammad Ahsan and Hendra Setiawan. Ashwini and N Sikki Reddy, the Commonwealth Game bronze-medallists, will fight it out against the Taiwanese combination of Cheng Chi Ya and Lee Chih Chen in women's doubles, while Sikki and Pranaav Jerry Chopra will lock horns with Germany's Mark Lamsfuss and Isabel Herttrich.

No Mud, No Mess, Evergreen

Cheap variants of artificial grass come with their inherent problems, but that is a story for another day. For high quality and durable turf there are Indian infrastructure companies like Altius Sports & Leisure Pvt Ltd offering synthetic turf products from TigerTurf New Zealand Ltd, one of the most quality-conscious turf manufacturers in the world.

Here's my review of Altius Sports:

Responsiveness: A

After I placed an enquiry on their website, I was contacted in less than an hour from their Kolkata HQ and given a full introduction. Appointment day & time set.

Estimation Process: A+

A young gentleman met me from their Delhi office, as I was there on business, along with a box of samples with different types of turf they offer. I could feel and evaluate each product as I was explained the pros and cons. After listening to what I was trying to accomplish, the sales manager gave me his honest recommendation that despite my desire to turn our natural grass football field into a synthetic grass football field, our institution would be better off with a multi-sport arena in the same space not only for aesthetics (their designs and layouts created by experts in New Zealand are beautiful) but also long term practicality. Altius Sports has designed and installed arenas all over India and in neighbouring countries for ten years so they know what they are talking about.

I appreciated their opinion on what was best for the institute and just as promised, I was mailed me a very detailed estimate that same evening, complete with CAD diagram, dimension details and 3-4 different cost estimates for each section based on turf specifications. My research and discussion with other vendors showed me that Altius Sports' charges are right in the range of what is considered standard per square foot.

Installation: A

On installation day, about 6 weeks after the order – the material has to be manufactured and shipped – Altius Sports' team showed up for a “kick-off” meeting with myself and my facilities manager. In the meantime, tools and machinery for installation had already been mobilized at site. Indian climate notwithstanding, the project was finished in time. At first glance the transformation was incredible to behold and everyone was pleased with the choice that we had made. And just before hand-over, I was given a full walk-through of the site and a few places, where I had concerns, were addressed without any fuss.

Customer Service: A+

What I appreciated was Altius Sport' dedication to ensuring my complete satisfaction. I'm sure anyone might expect great customer service for the amount of money being spent here, but I take nothing for granted. The sales manager himself visited many times to inspect progress and checked with me personally that everything was proceeding as per plan. To my surprise, I was also paid a visit by the head of sales himself and he spent time on site with his team and mine. This was completely unnecessary, but it spoke volumes about how Altius Sports is run.

Overall: A

If you're considering artificial grass for your institute - be it a school, college or club, I would strongly recommend you give Altius Sports a call. They are the best in the business, especially when it comes to the Love of the Sport.
